Wecolme

We are very delighted to invite you to the 2014 International Conference of the Research Institute of Nursing Science, at the Seoul National University in Korea, on October 30, 2014. The theme of the conference is “Wellness & Integrative Nursing Care.” This international conference will provide global perspectives on integrative nursing care, bringing together participants from various countries, including the U.S., Japan, Hong Kong, and Korea.

Integrative nursing can be defined as healing-oriented nursing that deals with a person's body, mind, and spirit as an integrated whole. It focuses on therapeutic and healing relationships, incorporating both conventional and alternative therapies, as appropriate. Through this conference, we will acquire comprehensive knowledge of the current principles, practices, and research relating to integrative nursing. We will have opportunities to consider important issues such as wellness, lifestyle enhancement, and healing environments, together with their theoretical frameworks. These insights and knowledge will enable us to build an integrative nursing program to alleviate symptoms such as pain, insomnia, anxiety, depression, and stress, as well as lifestyle changes in community and clinical settings.

By expanding and sharing the knowledge and practice of integrative nursing through this conference, we hope that we will succeed in optimizing and advancing the well-being of people, organizations, and communities.

Please join us at this challenging nursing event in Seoul, Korea. We welcome your contribution as a presenter and a participant.
